

ANNEX A-2: HOUSEHOLD SUPPORT PACKAGE

The Budget 2022 Household Support Package (“HSP”) helps Singaporean families to manage cost of living pressures, by providing support for daily essentials – through utilities rebates, top-ups for children’s education and vouchers for use at heartland shops. The package is estimated to cost the Government about $560 million.

(A) Additional GST Voucher – U-Save

All eligible HDB households will receive double their regular GST Voucher (“GSTV”) – U-Save in April 2022, July 2022, and October 2022 under the HSP. This will help with households’ utilities expenses. Together with the additional GSTV – U-Save rebates under the Assurance Package (“AP”) for GST that will be given in January 2023, eligible HDB households will receive double their regular GSTV – U-Save rebates in FY2022 (see Table 1).

This will benefit about 950,000 Singaporean households.

Table 1: GSTV – U-Save in FY2022, including Additional Rebates under HSP and AP

Notes:

1. Households whose members own more than one property are not eligible for GSTV – U-Save.
2. Additional rebates will be credited to eligible households at the same time as their regular GSTV – U-Save in the usual four quarters (April 2022, July 2022, October 2022, and January 2023).

(B) Top-ups to Child Development Account (“CDA”), Edusave Account, and Post-Secondary Education Account (“PSEA”)

The Government will provide families with additional support for their children’s education-related expenses. Each Singaporean child will receive a one-off $200 top-up to the CDA, Edusave account, or PSEA (see Table 2 for details). The top-up to the Edusave account is in addition to the annual Edusave contribution by the Government.

The top-ups will benefit about 790,000 children.
